

THREE JAILED FOR BRAWL IN COUNTY TAVERN

Cephas and Dewey Renfro, Glenville, and Clarence Clinton Hoff, York Springs R. D., were sentenced by the Adams county court this morning on assault and battery charges rising from a brawl in a lower county tavern over a girl friend of one of the Renfros.

Dewey Renfro, who was accused of using a knife in the fight, was sentenced to six months in the county jail, starting September 7, the date he was incarcerated on the charge, and was ordered to pay the costs.

Cephas Renfro, who was accused of using a chair, and Hoff, who said he struck the first blow in the fight, were each sentenced to 60 days and ordered to pay the costs with the sentence of Cephas Renfro also starting September 7.

Three people were injured in the fight, according to statements made to the court when the men appeared for sentence. Two were injured so badly they were hospitalized. One of those hospitalized was Hoff.

Two Are Fined
Judge W. C. Sheely told Norman and Bernard J. Staub, Gettysburg R. 5, charged with furnishing intoxicating liquor to minors, that "unfortunately at the time of your offense the maximum penalty was a $50 fine." The court sentenced the Staubs to pay $50 each and to pay the costs and then announced "for the benefit of the general public the statute has been amended and hereafter a greater penalty can be inflicted in such cases."

Dean K. Gross, York, appearing for sentence on two charges of driving a car after his license had been suspended, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and ordered to pay the costs in one case. In the other he was given a suspended sentence on condition he pay $100 for use of the county and the costs.

Seeks New Trial

Attorney Charles Wolf presented a motion in court this morning asking for a new trial for James Luther Smith, Gettysburg R. 4, on a charge of armed robbery. Smith had been found guilty earlier this week by a jury which argued for two hours before reaching a decision. Attorney Wolf claimed the decision of the jury was against the evidence and held that certain intimations of the prosecutor concerning the relationship between the defendant and a witness were not true and were prejudicial to the defendant.

A charge of making an improper left turn brought against Rudolph Peterson, Milwaukee, Wis., was "noll prossed" by the court this morning at the request of District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter. Teeter said that the charge originally laid against Peterson had been taken up, more or less, in the involuntary manslaughter case.

THREE BAILED FOR HEARINGS

Three of the five persons arrested by state police of the Gettysburg substation Thursday night in a raid on Natural Springs park, were still in the Adams county jail today.

District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter said no additional charges had been filed. Hearings are scheduled Monday night before Justice of the Peace John H. Bashore in the cases of the five charged with public indecency.

They included Ralph Eugene Calmer, 19, York; Barbara Ann Bennett, 20, York; Raymond Franklin Carter, 21, Gettysburg R. 1; Barbara Ann Saunders, 20, 127 South Franklin street, and Frank Steve Gifford, 19, of York.

Miss Saunders, Miss Bennett and Carter were released Friday in $500 bail for the hearings Monday night. Calmer, Gifford and Charles Robert Shearer, 19, of 261 East Middle street, who was questioned about the use or sale of cigarettes containing marijuana, are still in jail.

HARTLAUB IS ACQUITTED IN ASSAULT CASE

Clarence Hartlaub, Gettysburg R. 5, was found innocent of charges of assault and battery by an Adams county jury Friday afternoon and the costs in the case were divided between Hartlaub and his wife, Mrs. Gladys Hartlaub, the prosecutor in the case.

Three other charges, of non-support, abandonment and cruel and barbarous treatment of children also brought by Mrs. Hartlaub against Mr. Hartlaub were dismissed by the court when the prosecution completed its case Friday afternoon. The jury was directed by the court to bring findings of not-guilty on those charges.

In dismissing three of the counts against Hartlaub Judge W. C. Sheely told the jury: "The defendant has moved to dismiss the charges of failing to support, abandonment and cruelty to children and the court has granted the motion. This case is an example of the unhappy situation, which is all too frequent, where differences between husband and wife have led to the breaking up of a home. It is a situation which leads to trying to make one man's earnings support two households and usually there is not enough income to adequately take care of both."

Court Statement
"Previously the court ordered Mr. Hartlaub to pay $25 per week for the support of his wife and children and he has done this. Since the court set the amount he has to pay, he cannot be guilty of non-support as long as he continues to pay that amount. As for abandonment of the children, Mrs. Hartlaub took the five younger children with her and (Continued on Page 3)

AUTOPSY SHOWS COUNTIAN DIED NATURAL DEATH

The death of Lewis E. Sprankle, 81, of Fairfield R. D., was due to natural causes, an autopsy and investigation Friday revealed. Cerebral thrombosis was assigned as the cause. The examination showed he also suffered from pulmonary tuberculosis.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, said Mr. Sprankle had apparently become ill, and had started walking toward the home of a neighbor when he collapsed and died. The time of death was placed on Wednesday.

State police of the Gettysburg substation, who aided in the investigation, said no marks of violence were found on the body, that a sum of money he customarily carried with him was found in a drawer in the house, and that nothing had been disturbed in his home.

Sprankle had been in failing health for some time, due to his advanced years, authorities said. He had not been seen for several days until a searching party found his body in some bushes about 200 feet from his home Friday morning.

Partially Dressed

Only marks on the body, state police said, were small scratches from branches of the bushes. When found, he was lying on his side, with his right hand under his head. He was only partially clothed, in heavy underwear, a heavy gray shirt, heavy gray wool socks and rubber overshoes. One overshoe was on the body and the other was found, with Mr. Sprankle's cap, between the body and the house.

A son of the late John and Mary Buckingham Sprankle, he was born in Washington county, Md., but resided near Fairfield for the past 70 years. His wife, Mrs. Flora Lowe Sprankle, died a number of years ago. He was a member of St. John's Reformed church, Fairfield.

Surviving are two brothers and a sister, Samuel Sprankle, Rouzerville; Howard Sprankle, Baltimore, and Mrs. Bertha Manahan, Pen Mar.

U.S. Assistant Attorney General Is Fired, Plan Wide-Scale Sweep

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—President Truman's confidants said today the firing of Assistant Attorney General Theron Lamar Caudle is the beginning of a sweeping administration house-cleaning.

The president reportedly has sent out word to fire, retire, or get the resignation of all government executives whose outside activities, however legal, might provide fodder for Republican campaign oratory.

Sources at Key West, Fla., where Mr. Truman is spending a vacation, said other dismissals may follow, and that professional politicians are on notice to get in line for the clean-up drive.

They said Mr. Truman, with his eye on the hard 1952 presidential race ahead, is determined to weed out those who might lay his administration open to charges of corruption.

"Just A Starter"

"This is just a starter," said one highly-placed advisor in Key West. He asked that he not be quoted by name.

"The president is angry over disclosures that have reflected on him and his administration. He hopes that any of those whose activities are open to question will step out of their own accord."

Even before word came from Key West, the feeling in Washington was that Caudle's firing was just the "Great interest and full support" of a proposal to place a Lincoln statue in Lincoln Square here was promised by the state department commander of the Sons of Union Veterans and the state department patriotic instructor at a meeting of the Gettysburg camp of the SUV Friday evening in the GAR post rooms, East Middle street.

Charles H. Dern, Philadelphia, department commander, and Ivan E. Frantz, York, department patriotic instructor, both pledged full support of a movement to collect funds on a nation-wide scale for a Lincoln statue here.

Frantz in a talk to the local camp said: "I think every member of the Sons of Union Veterans and every member of every auxiliary organization will be in back of your plan to place a Lincoln monument here. I will take the matter up at the department meeting in Reading next summer and will push the idea at the national encampment."

Plan Public Meeting
Paul McMaster, York, a past commander of the York camp, promised to take the matter before his camp to secure its support.

The statements from the two officials came after an announcement at the local camp meeting of a plan to hold a public meeting November 30 to which all residents of the town will be invited, to name a committee.

More Than 500 At Firemen's Party

A crowd of more than 500 persons attended the Gettysburg Fire company's annual Thanksgiving party Friday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg annex. Games were played and refreshments served.

Harold Culp, chairman of the committee in charge, said that 70 turkeys and 25 chickens were given away. The party was for the benefit of the equipment fund, and proceeds will be used to help pay the cost of the new Mack pumper purchased by the fire company.

Mr. Culp said today that the fire company desired to thank all those who helped make the affair success.

$20,000 DAIRY BARN IS BURNED; THIRD IN WEEK

A 170-foot dairy barn on the farm of A. U. Walker, near the Pines church, about midway between Hunterstown and New Chester was destroyed by fire this morning, with a loss estimated at more than $20,000, partly covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Walker at 6 a.m. while he was milking. He told firemen he heard a noise on the floor overhead, and when he went to the hay mow, found it in flames.

New Oxford and Gettysburg firemen were called, and saved a chicken house, hog pen and other nearby buildings. Four streams of water taken from a nearby creek were used.

Cattle, Stock Saved

Cattle and other stock were driven from the barn and saved, but large quantities of hay, grain and lumber were destroyed. The barn was of modern construction, with the basement floor built of concrete blocks.

Firemen said they could assign no cause for the blaze. It was the third barn fire in a week. Two other barns at Bonneville were previously destroyed.

The Walker farm is located about a mile north of the hard road near Hunterstown and New Chester.

WOMEN AIDED CHEST DRIVE

Twenty-seven women's organizations in the borough gave a total of $509 toward the local Community Chest drive, Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, chairman for women's groups during the drive, revealed today.

Chest officials were unanimous in their praise of the women's clubs for their "splendid support" of the Community Chest. It was pointed out that "most women's clubs have only such funds as are raised by the actual work of the members, and most have some particular charity or church activity to support. Despite this they have been more than generous in donating funds for Community Chest."

Among the organizations which donated were the Culvert club, the Women of the Moose, American Legion Auxiliary, Eastern Star, Business and Professional Women's club, American Association of University Women, Ladies Auxiliary of the Post Office Clerks, Maude Miller Bible class, Delta Gamma Alumnae association, Queen of Peace Council of PCBL, Dorsey-Stanton American Legion Auxiliary, Auxiliary of the Adams County Fish and Game association, Annie Danner club, Class 43 of St. James Lutheran Sunday school, Acorn club, Soroptimist club, WCTU, St. James Mite society, Ladies Auxiliary of the Eagles, Woman's club of Gettysburg, Tuesday Bridge club, Mothers' class of St. James Sunday school, Rebekahs, VFW Auxiliary, Wednesday Bridge club, Beta Sigma Phi and the St. Francis Xavier Parish council of the NCCW.

Countains Injured In Cycle Accident

Munsan, Korea, Nov. 17 (AP)—The U.N. command, in a dramatic move to end the cease-fire deadlock, today offered to accept the Communist buffer zone proposal—if an armistice is signed within 30 days. The Communists indicated they might agree.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho told United Nations negotiators the U.N. plan "seems in the main to be in accordance with our principles."

The Reds promised to study the proposal overnight and "comment" further when the subcommittees working on the cease-fire line issue meet again at 11 a.m. Sunday (9 p.m. EST Saturday) in Panmunjom.

Demand Early Armistice
Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chief U.N. subcommittee delegate, told the Communist negotiators Saturday that the U.N. Allies will accept the Red proposal to fix a tentative cease-fire line along the present battle front. But he made it clear the line will become permanent only if all other armistice terms are agreed upon within 30 days after the proposal is accepted by the full five-member armistice delegations.

If no armistice is signed before the deadline, then a new cease-fire line would have to be fixed, Hodes said.

"We don't see any reason why the Communists wouldn't accept the latest U.N. proposal to settle the buffer zone," said Lt. Col. Howard S. Levie, official U.N. command spokesman. "We made it in all sincerity and with the expectation that it would be accepted."

He said the immediate Communist reply came "much faster than we would have expected."

Suggest Early Meeting
After Lee indicated the Reds might agree to the U.N. proposal, Hodes suggested that staff officers of both sides meet at 10 a.m. Sunday to start working out the line of battle contact which would become the tentative cease-fire line.

Lee did not respond to the 10 a.m. meeting suggested but replied: "I have received your proposal in writing and heard your explanation. Since we have yet to make a full study of your proposal I cannot answer. But I will give you our comment on your proposal tomorrow."

The United Nations plan demands clear-cut assurance from the Reds that agreement on the tentative cease-fire line would not be an end to the shooting before a full armistice is signed.

"There is no question of a de facto cease-fire," Levie said. "It will amount to ground, sea and air action to the extent determined by General Ridgway and his ground, sea and air commanders."

Allies Gain On 9-Mile Front

Seoul, Korea, Nov. 17 (AP)—United Nations troops today attacked on a nine-mile front in central Korea and rolled up advances of almost two miles in the first few hours.

U.S. Eighth Army headquarters said the doughboys ran into light to moderate resistance in most sectors as the attack opened southeast of Kumsong. But at one point the Reds stood their ground and met the attacking infantrymen in hand-to-hand combat.

In the west, U.N. infantrymen won back an advance position lost to Reds Friday northwest of Chonwon, 20 miles north of parallel 38. Allied troops attacked under cover of an artillery barrage shortly before dawn. Communists who had pushed United Nations defenders out of one hill position early Friday pulled back after putting up only light resistance. The Eighth army reported. Presumably the Reds still hold two other hill positions seized in the Friday attack.

Other U.N. command troops counterattacking to regain lost ground northwest of the punchbowl on the eastern front were reported engaged in a blazing battle. The Reds threw a full battalion into Friday's attack, which shoved United Nations units out of advance positions.

FACES CHARGE OF EXTORTION

Los Angeles, Nov. 17 (AP) — District Attorney S. Ernest Roll says he may wait until Monday to lodge formal charges against a bespectacled psychology teacher accused of trying to shake down an ex-actress for $8,100.

The teacher, Robert W. Major, 48, remained in jail today on a booking of attempted extortion while his lawyer sought to obtain his release on a writ of habeas corpus.

Major is accused of demanding money from Mrs. Ben Bard, wife of the former actor, under threat of publishing purported recordings of conversations between her and a student at the drama school, Bard operates.

Mrs. Bard who, as a child, acted in our gas comedies under the name of Jacqua Lynn, has denied that any such interludes ever took place. She and her husband co-operated with authorities in setting a trap for Major.

Major has been teaching public speaking and psychology in the Los Angeles city schools system since 1942.

However, Paul Burke, president of the Board of Education, announced yesterday that "Mr. Major will not meet his classes, beginning at once."

High School Actors Please With Comedy

Mask and Wig players of Gettysburg high school presented their second and final performance of the three-act comedy "Turn Back the Clock" Friday evening before a capacity audience. The play was given first on Thursday evening before a crowd that nearly filled the school auditorium.

Miss Betty Brandon, who directed the production, was presented with a corsage by Perry Stauffer, president of the Mask and Wig club, Friday evening after the final curtain.

The student cast was praised by audiences both evenings with the crowds apparently well pleased with their performances.

Claims Sure Cure For Thumb Sucking

San Francisco, Nov. 17 (AP) — A San Francisco dentist says he has a sure cure for thumb sucking children.

Dr. Edward S. Mack told the Alumni association of the College of Physicians and Surgeons yesterday that a "hay rake" made of steel wire fit inside the mouth will break the habit in children over three and a half.

Younger children, he said, should be treated psychologically in the home.

Dr. Mack said the problem with the thumb sucking child is to stop the habit without causing frustration or psychological harm. Persistent thumbsucking, he said, causes abnormal development of the jaws, mouth, breathing and displacement of the teeth.

FRANCE FACES CRISIS AGAIN

Paris, Nov. 17 (AP)—Premier Rene Pleven was seeking support today to keep France from falling again into the whirlpool of a government crisis.

Pleven's coalition government skirted the edge of disaster last night in calling for support of an austerity budget made necessary by the French rearmament program and a wavering economy.

The premier escaped a showdown after 19 hours of debate by hastily presenting a call for a general vote of confidence in the constitutional manner. This formality gives the government three days of grace-time for National Assembly deputies to reflect the consequences of a government crisis and time for Pleven to rally the needed support.

Threatens To Resign Pleven told the assembly last night he would resign if it did not accept the new budget, which slashes heavily the amount of dollar purchases France will make outside—particularly from the United States.

The proposed slashes would stop immediately the import of American woodpulp—used for making newsprint—and tobacco, and cut drastically next year's import of cotton. It envisioned the possible cutting out of coal imports by January 1 and the possible necessity for restricting traffic to save gasoline.

These proposals were unpopular to everyone, for it meant every Frenchman would be hit with the kind of regulated austerity he instinctively dislikes. But the government is faced with the fact that France must rearm for Western defense and arms cost more money than France can make.

RIDGWAY SAYS KNOWN DEATHS WERE REPORTED

Tokyo, Nov. 17 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today verified the Communist atrocity killings of United Nations soldier captives in Korea and declared "the shocking impact of the brutality which has been revealed should have been no surprise to the American people."

But the supreme Allied commander in his first comment on the sensational story that shocked the world Wednesday expressed regret over the way it was disclosed.

Ridgway, in a statement, said all known deaths already had been reported to next of kin and that the report had caused needless anguish among relatives of those soldiers still listed as missing.

On Wednesday Col. James M. Hanley, head of the war crimes section of the U. S. Eighth Army, disclosed in Korea that nearly 6,000 Allied soldiers—5,500 of them Americans—had been slaughtered by their Communist captors since the outbreak of the war.

Hanley in Tokyo Ridgway's statement did not mention the figures announced by Hanley.

Hanley was brought to Tokyo today by Col. George Patrick Welch, Ridgway's public information officer, presumably to answer any questions while the Ridgway statement was being prepared.

Shortly before Ridgway spoke out, Peiping radio entered a blanket denial of Hanley's report. It maintained that United Nations prisoners of war were treated well "despite difficult conditions."

Then the Chinese Communist radio countered with its own charges that "thousands and tens of thousands" of Chinese and North Korean Red soldiers "who fell into the hands of the United Nations forces have been massacred."

This ran counter to all reports of United Nations treatment of prisoners. Hanley in his report said all Red prisoners were well cared for. Only yesterday AP Photographer Robert H. Schutz visited a large war prisoner camp and said he found the Communist captives well fed and well clothed.

Ridgway's statement emphasized that there had been no intention of withholding the atrocity figures.

"It had been concluded some months ago that, at an appropriate time when the accumulated evidence warranted and when due coordination had been effected with the proper authorities in Washington, this evidence should be made public," Ridgway said.

"That this coordination was not properly effected at the time of this release is of the utmost regret to this headquarters."

FUGITIVE IS SEIZED BY FBI

Denver, Nov. 17 (AP) — Raymond Edward Young, listed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as one of the 10 most wanted fugitives in the nation, was arrested in Denver last night.

George Burton, special agent in charge of the Denver FBI office, said the 39 year old Young offered no resistance and admitted his identity.

Young, wanted in Los Angeles, was arrested in a bakery where he worked nights loading bread on trucks. He told FBI agents he had been in Denver since December of 1948 under the name of Donald Sherman and worked days as a motorcycle messenger for a mortuary.

Burton said Young was wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and was charged in a Los Angeles warrant with burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

Held in Denver

Young, a native of Lincoln, Nebr., was listed among the "most wanted" only last Monday. He replaced Mory Vernon King in the "top 10." King, accused of slaying his wife in San Luis Obispo, Calif., in 1947, was picked up at Philadelphia 18 days ago.

Young was held in the Denver city jail today. Burton said that on August 31, 1948, Young was among 51 men taken from the California state prison at Soledad to help fight a forest fire near Black Mountain, east of San Luis Obispo. He was serving a five-year — to life sentence for burglary and was known as a model prisoner. The next morning he was gone.

THREE LOST IN BOMBER BLAST

Bodies of two of the three air force fliers aboard were found soon afterward. State police and civil air patrolmen were joined by some 1,000 nearby residents in searching this mountainous area for the third flier early today.

Police said they had recovered a pair of trousers with $150 folded up in the watch pocket. It was believed to belong to the missing airman.

94 PERISH IN SEVERE FLOOD

Rovigo, Italy, Nov. 17 (AP) — Some 150,000 persons were reported fleeing their homes in the Po delta today as Italy's worst floods in half a century continued their death-dealing rampage that already has cost at least 94 lives.

By train, truck and boat, villagers and city dwellers hurried to the safety of the northern countryside.

They fled from this provincial capital of 40,000 shortly after midnight as torrents of water began surging over the streets. Thousands of others were pulling out of some 40 villages which were either engulfed by the flood waters or in immediate danger of inundation.

Police Kill Looters

Police in the little hamlet of Villa Marzana near here shot and killed four persons caught looting the deserted homes of flood victims. It was the first report of looting since the exodus from the flood area started.

Premier Alcide De Gasperi took part in the final decision asking Rovigo residents to evacuate the city.

The premier, who stayed in Padua last night, spent all yesterday watching volunteers provide meals and shelter for thousands of refugees pouring in from the stricken area.

He also conferred with local officials to get some idea of the enormous reconstruction job that will be needed to repair the flood damage. Since November 8, when high winds and torrential winds struck northern Italy, millions of dollars in damage have been wrought by storms and floods.

Finds Much Interest In Taft Candidacy

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Senator Dirksen (R-Ill.) said today a survey of the country indicates to him that sentiment for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the Republican presidential nominee has not reached the mass voter level.

On the other hand, Dirksen said, he had found a "deep and abiding interest in the candidacy of Senator Taft" of Ohio on the part of the average voter. Dirksen is supporting Taft for the GOP nomination.

The Illinois senator's observations were made to reporters after Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) told a Chicago audience last night that when, "with perseverance and luck," a western European army is formed capable of resisting aggression "it will be largely due to the magnificent leadership of General Eisenhower."

Lodge is taking over this week-end as manager of the Republican group seeking to get their party's presidential nomination for Eisenhower.

Many Arrested In Big Narcotics Raid

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Narcotics police combed out the drug underground of the nation's capital in a series of raids last night, arresting at least 30 "top men."

The announcement was made by Boyd M. Martin, capital area narcotics supervisor, as raids begun by more than 50 district policemen, deputy marshals and federal narcotics agents continued into early morning hours.

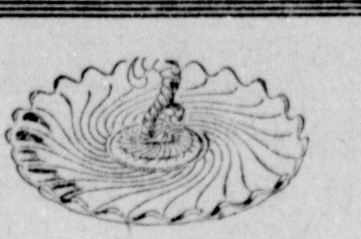

Martin said those arrested were independent "dope pushers." Many, he said got supplies of heroin in New York and parceled it out to small peddlers here.

The raids were the first since President Truman signed a new law requiring stiff penalties for second offenders in the dope racket.

TENNESSEE TO MEET MARYLAND IN SUGAR BOWL

New Orleans, Nov. 17 (AP)—Maryland will meet Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl football classic here New Year's Day—with or without the Southern conference's approval.

The Sugar Bowl announced last night that Tennessee, ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press weekly poll, and Maryland, the No. 5 team, had accepted invitations.

Both elevens are undefeated, untied, and many experts claim untied.

Maryland accepted the bid to the January 1 game in the face of an anticipated Southern conference ban on postseason games when conference presidents meet on December 14.

Southern conference presidents voted 13-1, with three schools abstaining last September, to direct their representatives to "vote (at the December meeting) against giving permission to any member institution to participate in a bowl game this year."

No Penalty Provided
Conference bylaws provide that "no postseason football games will be permitted, except by the consent of the conference." However, there is no penalty provided for violation of the rule.

Maryland President Dr. H. C. Byrd said he accepted the invitation without first asking permission of conference members. He said he followed the "pattern of past procedures."

Dr. Byrd would not directly answer what course of action Maryland would take if Southern conference members refused to grant the Terrapins permission. He said, "I would expect them to approve our request."

Conference Commissioner Wallace Wade said he was "surprised" that Maryland had accepted the bid without first consulting other members.

Within Rules
The Maryland Athletic council denied the school had violated any rules. The council said in a statement:

"In view of certain recent publicity, a question may arise as to whether or not the university is violating any regulations in accepting the invitation. The simple answer is that the university is not violating any regulation, and is acting within the rules of the Southern conference and on the basis of custom and procedure over many years."

Maryland Coach Jim Tatum said the school would ask the conference for permission at the December 14 meeting. He said if the conference refuses, he would consider it "discrimination" since it has been the custom to permit Southern conference teams to play in bowl games.

Demarco Decisions Chavez; Saddler Next

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—If you thought Paddy Demarco was rough with Eddie Chavez last night in Madison Square Garden, wait until he fights Sandy Saddler, the featherweight champ, Dec. 7, at the Garden.

You TV fans ain't seen nothing yet. Bully Boy Demarco and Saddler, who still is serving a suspension for his "wrestling" match with Willie Pep, are liable to throw the rule book out the window.

Demarco, 20-year-old Chavez of San Jose, Calif., and wore him down with body blows last night to win a unanimous 10-round decision. Only 2,921 fans who paid $9.000 turned up for the battle. They booed Paddy for some borderline body blows and a little rough stuff in the clinches.

A left hook that looked low at ringside knocked down Chavez for a five-count in the seventh round. Chavez said in his dressing room it was a low blow and Paddy said it wasn't. In any event, he was not penalized.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Those fancy spread formations have aroused so much interest among football aficionados in the south-west and midlands that they're cooking up names for the different versions.

First there's Dutch Meyer's original "Frog Spread," which the TCU Horned Frogs have used effectively for several seasons.

Don Pierce, the Kansas U. publicist, also reports the existence of the "North Platte Spread"—a mile wide and an inch deep, of course.

"The Prairie Spread," "The Two-Mile Spread" and, what's worrying K. U. Coach Jules Verne Sikes this week, Ears Whitworth's "Dry Gulch Spread" as operated by Oklahoma A. and M. . . . Apparently Sikes hasn't spent much time watching western programs on television.

Any kid knows these days that the way to stop those cowpokes is to take the short cut and cut 'em off at the pass.

NEVER AT A LOSS
Notre Dame was taking a real shellacking from Michigan State last Saturday and an Irish rooster in the stands was dying hard.

He became louder and more mournful as the game wore on and the score mounted. . . . Finally, late in the contest, Michigan State quarterback Al Dorow pivoted to trot back into passing position, stepped on his own toes and fell flat with no Notre Dame player within five yards.

The Notre Dame fan jumped to his feet; "Boy," he shouted enthusiastically, "now we're tackling."

SPORTSPOURRI
One of the big sporting goods manufacturers is ballyhooing a new model football which is supposedly harder to fumble. No handles on it, either. . . . After the Rochester Royals took a 19-point licking from Minneapolis in a National Basketball Association game, boss Les Harrison growled: "I guess my guys thought those world championship emblems on their uniforms were going to scare 'em out of them."

WEAK END NOTES
Tommy Richardson, Eastern league prexy, believes his circuit is one of the strongest in the minors and can withstand any shrinkage in minor league baseball.

After checking the weights of his Texas Christian U. squad and finding only a 197-pound average for the regulars, Coach Dutch Meyer cracked: "I'm glad we won't play any high schools. They'd outweigh us something fierce."

Baseball
New York—The New York Yankees placed rookie pitcher Bob Wiesler on the national defense list, after receiving word that his national defense unit in Missouri had been called to active duty.

Philadelphia—Roy Mack, executive vice president of the Philadelphia Athletics, underwent a hernia operation at Hahnemann hospital.

Cincinnati—National League President Warren Giles announced that there would be no umpire supervisor in the league for 1952.

Denver—Denver was awarded the American Legion junior baseball World Series for 1952.

Track
Chicago—Wisconsin's Walt Deike won the individual championship but the badges were dethroned by Michigan State in the team battle of the Big Ten cross-country meet.

Tennis
Sydney, Australia—Tony Trabert, Cincinnati and Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, advanced through the second round of the New South Wales Tennis tournament beating Australia's Geoff Pryor and Rex Hartwig, respectively.

GIANTS, BROWNS IN BATTLE FOR TOP POSITION

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Thanksgiving will arrive early for New York's starved football fans.

The subway alumni, their appetites whetted by television and radio accounts of the nation's top collegiate games, have a feast of their own coming up tomorrow.

Cleveland's bruising Browns will invade the Polo Grounds tomorrow to battle with the New York Giants in the National Football league's top game of the day.

The prize is first place in the loop's American conference, and, possibly, the championship itself.

The Browns (6-1-1) hold a slim lead over the runnerup Giants (5-1-1).

The team have met four times during the past two years, each winning twice. Last Oct. 28 the Browns nipped the Giants, 14 to 13, in Cleveland when the New Yorkers missed a point after touchdown.

Meantime, the Chicago Bears and Los Angeles Rams will try to break their National conference deadlock.

The Rams (5-2-0) entertain the winless but dangerous New York Yanks, while the Bears (5-2-0) play host to their traditional rivals, the Green Bay Packers.

In other games, the Chicago Cardinals, with only one win to show for their profits, meet San Francisco in San Francisco; Detroit, still in the National conference running, visits Philadelphia and Washington journeys to Pittsburgh in a battle of also rans.

GETS CLUES ON MISSING GIRLS

Chambersburg, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—The president of Penn Hall school for girls has received a report that two missing students bought soda pop at a town grocery store after disappearing from the campus last Monday.

Dr. Sarah Briggs said the proprietor of the store told her he made the sales at 4:30 p.m., Monday, to two girls answering the descriptions of Nancy Steck, of Sea Girt, N. J., and Marion Traendly, Rowayton, Conn.

The information was forthcoming, Dr. Briggs said, after she had made appeals through the press and radio for clues on the girls' whereabouts.

The school president said that the two 17-year-olds had gone to a skating rink near here on Sunday night in violation of school rules and probably were fearful of punishment.

She said in a statement that Penn Hall girls "never are permitted to go to the skating rink without chaperones and never on Sunday."

"There is no arbitrary ruling for such infractions," she said, "but each case is considered on its merits after the administration and faculty representatives talk with the students. The girls knew they had broken the rules by their action on Sunday and suspected that the school authorities had discovered this. All of their friends have talked freely with the administration and I am appreciative of the attitude of the student body."

Buck Hill Falls, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—James M. Taylor of Pottsville, Pa., is the new international chairman of the Allied Youth conference succeeding Bernard Carpenter of Melrose, Mass.

Taylor was elected yesterday by 400 delegates attending the organization's sixth annual meeting.

BULLET-F & M WINNER TAKES SERIES LEAD

When Gettysburg and Franklin and Marshall colleges football teams collide at Lancaster on Thanksgiving Day, both teams will have an added reason to win—to lead in the series record which is now tied at 24 each and four ties.

Both teams have won five and lost three, and both teams lost to Western Maryland by one touchdown. The comparison continues in that both teams have defeated Johns Hopkins and Dickinson. Against Albright, the Diplomats lost by one touchdown and Gettysburg won by a single point, 21-20.

The series is loaded with rich football history. Like the year 1919, when the present coach "Hen" Bream, kicked a field goal to lead his mates to a 3-0 win. Or like the year 1929 when Earl McMillen, one of the finest Bullet backs in history, was hospitalized before the game. "Win for Mac" was the cry and his teammates won for him by a 25-6 count.

The late Harry O'Neill, who later stopped a shell at Okinawa, combined with Fred Hamilton, another bright star on the Gettysburg grid horizon, to lead his mates to a 16-8 victory in 1938 before one of the largest crowds ever to see a game at Memorial Field.

Ten years later Gettysburg's own Ross Sachs, Dwight Speaker and Martin Pavlic and company were to lead the Battlefield boys to two easy wins, 39-6, and 39-14, in 1948 and 1949.

The Diplomats got their revenge a year ago when Bobby West quarterbacked the undefeated Lancaster eleven to a 59-20 win over the outclassed Orange and Blue. The total number of points exceeded the 72 to 1905 when the Bullets won, 72-0. F. and M.'s most one-sided triumph was in 1890, the first year of the series, 68-0.

Loyal Oath Bill Called "Inquisition"

State College, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—Loyalty oath bills are "bills of inquisition," says Richardson Dilworth, Philadelphia's district attorney-elect.

"Such measures are nearly always aimed at the teaching profession," Dilworth said in an address here yesterday before the opening session of Penn State's intercollegiate colloquy on the loyalty of free men.

Dilworth's remarks were directed at a measure now before the state Legislature to require all state employees including school teachers to take a loyalty oath affirming that they are not members of any subversive organization.

"Many people forget in times of continued crisis that our freedom of thought and speech is the real source of America's strength," said Dilworth. He said he was convinced that "one of the most important rights of a free society is the right of non-conformity" but that under tension people become alarmed at "anyone who does not conform."

UN COMMITTEE REBUFS REDS

Paris, Nov. 17 (AP)—The United Nations political committee today voted to begin immediate discussion of a French-British-American disarmament plan. It shifted debate on a Russian "peace plan" to the end of the Paris session.

The vote was 45 to 5 (the Soviet bloc against) with 5 abstentions. Committee debate on the three-power plan will begin Monday with U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson leading the fight for adoption of the proposals.

The 60-member committee also rejected by a vote of 38 to 6 with 10 abstentions a Soviet plea that a Russian peace plan presented to the U.N. General Assembly yesterday be discussed immediately after the Western plan.

Acheson had asked in his speech at the opening of the committee meetings today that the Western proposals be discussed first and the Russian plan be postponed until late in the session because it "duplicates other items" already on the committee's work sheet.

Russia's Jacob Malik agreed that the Western proposal should come first, but insisted that the plans submitted at the General Assembly by Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky be discussed immediately afterward.

Today's Talk

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LOOK FOR THE GOOD

I believe that we all should always look for the good and best in people. There is more of it than the bad. We, ourselves, as well as our best friend, have plenty of faults and imperfections, but we reap the greatest happiness when we look for the good.

Recently a friend of mine brought up the name of a mutual acquaintance of ours and immediately the faults of that one. I was greatly surprised at what I heard for I had never noted the faults that were enumerated to me. I could recall only the good side to that one.

One way to get the most joy and inspiration out of another human being is to look for the good in that one and just don't notice the unfavorable points. We make friends, and keep them, by noting and playing up to their good points. The best way to cement a friend to one is to keep looking for his good qualities, the same as a miner keeps looking for the gold, rather than the cheaper grade or ore.

I once took a mother and daughter for an auto ride through a beautiful part of the country during the glorious days of summer. We were looking at a beautiful sunset. The mother appreciated it, as I did, but the daughter was indifferent and said nothing. Finally I said to her: "Isn't it beautiful?" Her only reply was: "I guess it is all right."

There is something good in every day, no matter what the weather or circumstances may be, but there are those who cannot extract it. There is a line in the New Testament, referring to Christ, that has always impressed me. That line is this: "He went around DOING good." That could well be a tribute paid to any one of us, and what pride we could take in such a tribute! Hunt for the good and any of us can be sure to find it. It's everywhere! In people, in cities, and nations. In the earth, sky, books, art.

FOOTBALL PLAYER'S MOTHER

She watches for him at the door
Hoping that she will see
Without an injury.

No peace of mind has she the day
His team another team will play.

Until the football season's close
In constant fear she'll be
That he will suffer cruel blows

From rougher boys than he,
And stronger tackles will attack
Her brave, but gentle Quarterback.

But should he boast of tackles hard

He made to help his team,
And tell her how he blocked a guard,

On him she'll proudly beam
And to his father she will say:
"Our quarterback did well today."

Challenge Truman To Try Coin Toss

Fredericksburg, Va., Nov. 17 (AP)—Will President Truman eat cherry pie on Washington's birthday, February 22?

Maybe, but he'll have to earn it. He can have the pie, compliments of the city of Fredericksburg, if he can toss a coin across the Rappahannock river the way the first President did some 200 years ago.

Frankly, the city fathers don't think Mr. Truman is up to the task. They challenged him Thursday to make good on his recent statement that any 10-year-old child could flip a dime across the Rappahannock at the point where Washington made his pitch of a silver dollar.

LIST LOW BIDDER

A low bid of $20,656.70 on the purchase of tables and chairs for students and desks and chairs for teachers in the new schools now under construction at Brunswick, Middletown and Woodsboro, the addition at Emmitsburg and the recently completed addition at Libertytown was received at the office of the Board of Education, Frederick, Wednesday. The low bidder was the Flowers School Equipment company, of Richmond, Va.

Nahant, Ga., Nov. 17 (AP)—Two persons were killed and 21 others injured Thursday when the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad's "Havana Special" sideswiped a freight train and demolished the depot at nearby Hortense Crossing. Sheriff J. Walter Crews of Brantley county said A. H. Byington, engineer of the passenger train, jumped at the instant of impact and was killed by the fall.

Unlike the airplane pilot the car driver who gets tired doesn't have to keep it up.

Brings Some New Angles

A point to consider when installing a new motor in an old car is whether the original cooling system is going to be in sufficiently good condition, or large enough, to take care of the new power. Many motorists have found it necessary to replace the radiator or even to add an extra hot water heater in order to increase the cooling capacity. It helps the situation to keep the new engine running as efficiently as possible. This calls for close attention to ignition timing. The use of additives in the oil makes for cooling operation. So does use of the best available gasoline. In some cases overheating with the new engine can be traced to the old clutch which, given new work to do, slips a bit.

Diagnosis Comes Hard

Sometimes the best of reasoning goes wrong when it comes to diagnosing a car's ailments. No one knows this better than a friend of mine whose car developed an annoying tendency to thump when the motor was idling with the selector of the automatic transmission in the neutral position. Slip the selector into the "drive" position, and the knocking stopped. There had been a variety of explanation for the knock but one mechanic was willing to bet his last dollar that a valve job would check the trouble. Several mechanics had agreed that one of the valves was burned. The question was whether the trouble with the motor could be so serious as to cause the thumping.

You never know until you try. My friend put first things first by having the engine serviced. There was one very bad valve, just as they suspected, but replacing it and servicing the remainder of the valves failed to check the thumping. Actually the bad valve had not been evidencing itself as more than the cause of lowered performance. The conclusion now is that the thumping is due to backlash in the automatic transmission.

Keep Them In Mind

Breaker points that have been in service for some time often look gray and dull, but they may be operating efficiently in spite of it. Some mechanics have checked brake squealing by enclosing the brake shoe return springs in short lengths of rubber hosing. The tire tread pattern is more important as an anti-skid preventive with low pressure tires because their treads are not quite as wide as those on comparable regular tires.

Mechanic Joe Speaks:

"One of the odd habits motorists have is building up a case for things that are normally considered to be a pest. Take carbon, for instance. A lot of people think that because it takes up room in the cylinders it will raise compression and thus provide more power. Anti-knock gasoline helped along this notion because the glowing carbon particles were thus prevented from causing excessive preignition. But the joker in carbon is that it interferes with cooling. Also it gets under the valve heads and in preventing the valves from closing tightly will lower compression.

"We often hear that brake 'dust' is an advantage. Automobile people know better. They blow it out whenever working on the brakes."

Not Too Unwelcome

Observing how an engine stops when it becomes reluctant to serve its master goes a long way toward diagnosing its ailment. Complete failure always is rather alarming but actually it is the sort of thing that helps track trouble to its lair. Usually this sort of complete cessation of activities indicates an open circuit in the ignition system—probably a wire disconnected at the distributor or the coil. It is always well to check to see if there is accidental grounding of the low tension wire to the distributor. If the insulation is worn here the wire may ground against the distributor's base. Fuel failure invariably is accompanied by sputtering and gasping. Mechanical breakdowns have their accompanying noise.

How's That Condenser

Many readers are asking about it so I want to repeat a rule that mechanics use to tell whether the ignition condenser has over or under capacity. The first step is to find out the car's polarity. That is, does the battery or the negative side of the battery ground? Then check for the negative point in the distributor. If a hole is formed on this point the condenser hasn't sufficient capacity. If the hole or "crater" forms on the face of the positive point, however, the indications are that the condenser has over capacity.

It's On The Way

News that over two million youths have taken driving courses in their schoolwork during the past four years may be followed by announcement of plans to provide brief but important instruction in how to drive more economically. Cars equipped with dashboard glass containers showing visibly the rate at which gasoline is consumed are expected to create considerable interest in the idea of checking the "heavy foot" which is responsible for so many wasted gallons—and lives. Youth will find gas saving tests highly interesting. There's a healthy spirit of competition about them. And also a chance to show Pa and Ma a thing or two about driving technique that the hits the pocketbook.

Getting Them Apart

Ever look bumpers with another car? It doesn't happen so often in these days of bumper guards, but some people have been caught while in the act of helping another driver get a start. Should the bumpers lock have someone stand on one of bumpers and rock up and down a bit as one or the other of the cars is given a little power. Sometimes if both of the cars can be moved the trick is to drive one of them over a trick stick or a pair of rocks.

When Not To File

I don't blame any one for being puzzled as to whether it is or is not good business to file brake points. Personally, I have always been in favor of stoning points, but the use of a clean point file for cases where points are slightly burned or blackened, or even pitted a bit, has often been advised on good authority. The answer to this puzzle is to be found mainly in the materials used for points. If the metal is unusually hard small bits of the steel will break off and get into the surfaces of the points. Heat will then do a welding job so that the points will soon be worse than they were before. For any kind of points the use of sandpaper and emery cloth is not recommended at all.

Better still, replace the points.

In The Motor Mail

Q. My car has a marked tendency to pull to the right when I slow down. This has developed after returning from a vacation trip. The brakes were relined with the best material last spring. H. N. K.

A. I suspect that some wheel bearing grease has thinned out and has worked into the brake. Better have this checked at once. It will become more serious. You will probably need to replace the linings on the right front brake, or those on both front brakes.

Q. I used rust inhibitor in the spring but the radiator water drained off rather rusty the other day. Perhaps I did not use the right kind of inhibitor. Wm. L. F.

A. Judging from the remainder of your letter you traveled very extensively during the past summer. You should have added another can of inhibitor as the stuff evaporates and loses its effectiveness.

Q. Through carelessness the generator bearings of my car have not been properly oiled and are now giving up the ghost. How can I tell if they really are worn? H. N. Jr.

A. Feel the generator while the motor is running. Rough, worn bearings will cause noticeable vibration. Be careful of the fan and the belt. Q. A new voltage regulator is no better than the one that went away. Why not? G. C. McB.

A. Well, for one thing maybe there was nothing wrong with the original regulator. This device gets blamed for everything from a rattling hood to failure to climb mountains in overdrive. For another, thing the new regulator probably isn't matched to the generator on your car. This is a very common mistake.

Q. Will proper selection of gears help stretch gasoline mileage? M. B. A. Any professional driver will tell you "yes." That is why he usually prefers to drive a car with a conventional synchromesh transmission, for he likes to use his own judgment as to when to shift down or up and which gear will give him the best results.

Q. Does the kind of driving have anything to do with the amount of pressure build-up in a tire? D. S. R. A. Friction between the tire tread and the road, and the amount of flexing of the sidewalls, determine the built-up, so quite naturally too much speed, acceleration or deceleration will put up the pressure more than for steady driving.

Q. Even though all steering parts are tight I feel road shock through the wheel. What now? H. H. E.

A. These parts are too tight. Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern street, West Hartford, 7, Connecticut, and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

EDUCATIONAL TV IS BIG HURDLE FOR FCC ACTION

By JACK ADAMS

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—One of the hurdles that has to be cleared before television is unfrozen is educational TV.

This matter is tied up tightly with the National Channel Allocation plan on which the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) is now working preparatory to lifting the freeze early in 1952.

Thus, when the channels are definitely assigned, by cities, FCC must say finally what education is to get, and on what terms.

Plan 209 Outlets

The commission tentatively ruled last March that about 10 per cent of all television space should be specifically reserved for schools desiring to build and operate strictly educational, non-commercial stations. This plan would give educational institutions 209 of the approximately 2,000 local outlets envisioned for the nation.

Of the total school stations proposed, 82 could get channels in the very high frequency (VHF) band now in use and 127 would have channels in the proposed new ultra high frequency (UHF) range, still to be opened up.

The school world generally protested this wasn't nearly enough, and especially not enough VHF. FCC Commissioner Frieda B. Hennock said education should have 25 per cent of all channel space.

On the other hand, commercial television generally thinks it is more than ample. Everyone in this group thinks educational television is a fine thing but—

Opposing Views

Some say there should be no set-aside at all, that the schools should compete on even terms with industry for the available channels.

Some say the schools should project education to the public through established commercial outlets.

Some say the educators will never get around to using all the channels proposed for them and that any perpetual set-aside of these channels exclusively for school applicants would waste precious radio spectrum space.

One Application

Just how long the proposed reservation will run the commission has yet to decide.

The schools say it should be permanent, or at the very least over a great many years, so that the tax-supported institutions will have time to organize plans and get the necessary appropriations through legislatures.

Only one institution has actually applied for educational TV since this new branch of video was proposed. This is the Lindsey Hopkins Vocational school of Miami, Fla.

More Have Plans

However, about 10 other schools or school agencies have given notice of firm plans to build stations promptly. These include the Connecticut Education Board; New York's Board of Regents, which is proposing an 11-station state network; the state of New Jersey,

Littlestown GIFTS VOTED BY LIONS CLUB

Chief of Police Albert H. Miller, Jr., appeared before the Littlestown Lions club Thursday evening on behalf of the school patrol and asked the club again to purchase flags for use by the members of the patrol. The Lions decided to provide the 24 flags necessary for the school patrol. They also voted a contribution of $10 to the Littlestown Chamber of Commerce Christmas program fund and $5 to the Salvation Army.

A white cane was presented to a local citizen, who is partially blind, and who was a guest of the club at the meeting, by John R. Bloom, chairman of Zone A, District 14 C, of Lions International. Three Christmas gifts will be given by the group to three children of the Adams County Welfare society. H. Dean Stover, president of the society and a member of the club, together with John R. Bloom and John D. Basehor, comprises the committee to purchase the gifts.

Plans were made to enter a float in the local parade on Saturday, December 1, at 3 o'clock, to be held in connection with the road-opening ceremony of the Littlestown Chamber of Commerce. Wilbur E. Mackley, Charles E. Tressler, Wilbur A. Bankert, Henry E. Waltman, Clayton L. Evans and John D. Basehor comprise the float committee.

The Boys and Girls committee, composed of Edgar A. Wolfe, Garnet E. Schellhase and Robert J. Stoner, is in charge of the program for the evening which consisted of two reels of film. The next meeting of the club, on December 6, will be in charge of the publicity committee.

To Give Mystery Drama

"Nine Girls," a mystery drama with prologue and two acts, will be presented as the senior class play in the Littlestown high school auditorium on Friday evening, November 30, at 8 p.m. Nine parts are taken by Penny Nester, Nancy Flickinger, Beverly DeHoff, Marie Basehor, Shirley Warner, Phyllis Hawk, Nancy Renner, Mary Lou Boyd, Nancy Myers and Dolores Rae Reindollar. Joan Clapsaddle is the prompter, Brenda Hess the stage manager, and Ferree LeFevre, the sound effects manager. Miss Leora Held, of the faculty, is directing. Tickets are now on sale and may be secured from any member of the senior class. The ticket committee is composed of Mary Chronister, Katherine Eckenrode and Myrtle Good.

The calendar of events at the Littlestown Junior-Senior high school next week includes a special assembly on Tuesday morning at 8:45 o'clock, featuring the Gloom Chasers; a Thanksgiving program in charge of Miss Dorothy Crabbs, of the faculty, on Wednesday. Thanksgiving vacation will be observed on Thursday and Friday. The Animal Crackers will be present at the November 25 assembly, at 2 p.m., and in addition to the senior class play on November 30, the second period of the term ends.

USE FLUORIDES IN MANY TOWNS

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—The practice of inserting fluorides in drinking water to reduce tooth decay is on the increase in Pennsylvania.

Two Keystone state communities are already treating their water supplies with sodium fluoride, while a third has received a permit and several others are preparing treatment plans.

The addition of fluorides to drinking water is believed by many dental experts to reduce tooth decay among children by as much as 65 per cent.

Ford City and Brookville in western Pennsylvania are the first two communities in the state to install fluoride systems, while Ebensburg is awaiting arrival of needed chemicals. In addition, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Lancaster, York, Easton, Reading, Ridgway and several other places are readying plans.

The cost of installing fluoride treatment systems runs from less than $10,000 to over $100,000 depending on the area served. The addition of fluoride to water cannot be detected in the taste.

"ENOUGH STEEL"

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—A. B. Homer, president of the Bethlehem Steel company, says any steel shortage cannot be attributed to underproduction but to poor distribution under government control. Homer, speaking last night before the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, said: "There's all the steel the country needs, both for defense and to support a thriving civilian economy. Steel is pouring from the mills at rates beyond what the country's steel-consuming industries have ever been able to use."

The California condor, which has the widest wing span of any North American bird, can fly as high as 10,000 feet.

RADIO

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—When the Metropolitan opera returns to ABC radio on December 1 for another season of 18 Saturday matinee broadcasts direct from the New York stage it will be its 21st year on the air. It also will be the twelfth consecutive year for the present sponsor (Texas Co.).

The opening broadcast is to be "La Traviata," with air time at 2 p.m. The intermission features, opera news and opera quiz, will be resumed. The first Metropolitan radio broadcast was Christmas Day, 1931. It was "Hansel and Gretel" and was carried by the combined NBC networks, of which ABC was then a part.

Continuation of NBC's 25th birthday observance brings two programs tonight. The first, another of the weekly series titled Silver Jubilee on NBC, goes on at 11:15, with Ford Bond, veteran announcer, interviewed by Ben Grauer. Next week the program will close with Harvey Firestone, Jr., who has been a sponsor on the network since it began November 15, 1926.

The other program at 11:30, a special salute from Paris in connection with that city's 2000th anniversary, will pay tribute to NBC in a variety half-hour of French songs over the years. It is being originated by Radiofusion France, the French broadcasting system.

THANKSGIVING

IN GRATITUDE FOR BOUNTIFUL CROPS AFTER THEIR FIRST WINTER OF FAMINE, THE PILGRIMS HELD A FEAST OF THANKSGIVING IN NOVEMBER OF 1621

IT IS IN THAT SPIRIT OF GRATITUDE THAT WE SHOULD CELEBRATE THANKSGIVING TODAY—GRATITUDE FOR OUR MATERIAL WELL-BEING, BUT DEEPER GRATITUDE THAT THE RELIGIOUS SPIRIT AND SENSE OF PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY THE PILGRIMS ESTABLISHED IN AMERICA ARE STILL OURS TO ENJOY.

THEY ARE ALSO OURS TO MAINTAIN—SO THAT OUR CHILDREN, AND OUR CHILDREN'S CHILDREN, WILL ENJOY THOSE BLESSINGS—

AND BE THANKFUL.

Littlestown CHORUS ON 3RD TV APPEARANCE

Approximately 25 members of the Littlestown Men's chorus under the direction of L. Robert Snyder, made their third appearance on television on Thursday night, over WBAL-TV, Baltimore. The chorus was one of five finalists chosen from 50 competing acts on "Star Discovery Time," directed by Syd King, with Bill Dyer as master of ceremonies. Five prominent Baltimoreans served as judges to choose the finalist, on Thursday night. First place was given to a male vocalist. Officials of the station, however, stated that they will be able to use the chorus on future entertainment programs. The number which the chorus sang was "You'll Never Walk Alone," from "Carousel," by Rogers and Hammerstein, with Mrs. Elizabeth Seil as piano accompanist. The chorus will prepare for their fourth annual concert, to be presented on Friday, December 28, in the Littlestown high school auditorium at 8 p.m. The next rehearsal of the group will be on Wednesday at 9 o'clock, at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Schottle's hotel.

Homemakers Meet

The Froctown Homemakers met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Alvin Conover, Gettysburg R. 5, when "Knitting" was the subject for discussion and Mrs. Edwin F. Stavelly, of town, was the instructor. A meeting of all members was planned for next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Orville Newman, along the Gettysburg road, to decide on the type of exhibit which the club will display in the county Christmas Fair of the Homemakers' clubs, to be held in the parish hall at Grace Lutheran church, Two Taverns, on November 28. The next regular meeting will be held on Wednesday, December 5, at the home of Mrs.

Robert Gitt, near town, in the form of a Christmas party. Each member will take a Christmas refreshment, together with the recipe for preparing it and a fifty-cent gift for exchange. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess.

Forty-one members were in attendance at the November meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of St. Luke's church, White Hall. Miniature aprons, made by Mrs. Charles Bupp, Mrs. J. Howard Cook and Miss Marie Flickinger, were distributed to the members, to be returned at the December meeting, with change in the pockets equaling the individual waist measurement of the members. Mrs. Robert Spangler read the Scripture lesson and prayer was offered by the Rev. Oscar E. Feaman, Lutheran pastor at St. Luke's. The guess package, contributed by Mrs. Samuel Snyder, was received by Mrs. Ray Reichart. The birthdays of members were noted. One new member, Mrs. Richard Gladfelter, was welcomed into the society.

A parcel post sale was the feature of the meeting. Packages were received from seven states, including one from Tulare, Calif., received by Mrs. Fred Hartlaub, one from Moravia, Calif., received by Mrs. Claude Flickinger and others from Missouri, Florida, Colorado, Ohio, New York, Maryland and from cities and towns of Pennsylvania. Plans for the annual Christmas party to be held in connection with the next meeting on Wednesday, December 12, were also made. Mrs. Ralph Flickinger and Mrs. Edward Newman were appointed as a decorating committee. There will be an exchange of gifts and the twin sisters of the society will be revealed. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Judy Garland Is Back On Broadway
New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—Judy Garland, feeling "wonderful" after her backstage collapse last Sunday, is back on Broadway singing her way into the hearts of her fans.

The 29-year-old actress returned to the Palace Theater vaudeville show last night and received an ear-splitting ovation that left her and many in the 1,800 audience sobbing.

Miss Garland, who has had a troubled career in recent years, spent four days in a private sanitarium this week recovering from what her doctor called "nervous exhaustion."

After a triumph in London, she made a smashing American comeback here last Oct. 16 and played to full houses twice-a-day until her illness last Sunday.

Fine Proclaims Thanksgiving Day
Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine yesterday proclaimed Nov. 22 as Thanksgiving Day in Pennsylvania and said the state has much to be thankful for in 1951.

"1951 has been a year of high employment and income in Pennsylvania, and of expanding industry which will provide even more employment opportunities in the years ahead," the Governor said in a statement.

At the same time, Fine ordered a four-day holiday for all state employees under his jurisdiction, beginning Thursday, Nov. 22, and ending Monday, Nov. 26.

The longest canal in the world is said to be one built in China many centuries ago.

SEE DEMAND FOR MORE AIR POWER

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Congressional sources said today they expect an administration request next year for added billions of dollars to speed expansion of air power. And chances appear good now that the request will be met.

Some lawmakers look for President Truman to stress the need for more air power quickly in his messages to the new session shortly after the first of the year.

Three senators, Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), Young (R-ND) and Lodge (R-Mass.), indicated they are anxious to boost the nation's present air power.

And Gen. Curtis Lemay, head of the Strategic Air Command (SAC), said last night his air lieutenants can launch swift retaliatory attack at any enemy, but that SAC has a gigantic task calling for more than a handful of bombers and atomic bombs.

"I'm air-minded," Senator Johnson told a reporter today. "That's the way to defend this country."

Young, a member of the Senate Appropriations committee, said in a separate interview: "I'm a staunch supporter of the strongest possible air power to assure air supremacy for this country."

CARS COLLIDE HERE
Automobiles operated by Jacob M. Harnish, Mechanicsburg, and Raymond W. Dayhoff, 40 North Stratton street, collided in the first block of Baltimore street Friday, according to a thorough police report. The Harnish car suffered minor damages, police said.

Defective Bernard Conley models in Cleveland the disguise he wore to impersonate the mother of Beverly Potts and nab Frank Davis who, police say, admitted he tried to extort $5,000 from the missing 10-year-old Beverly's parents. Davis met Conley in an alley, believing the detective was Mrs. Elizabeth Potts, police said.

WU EXECUTIVE IS ARRESTED

New York, Nov. 17 (AP)—A Western Union vice president has been arrested here on a Michigan fugitive warrant charging conspiracy to violate gambling laws by knowingly allowing a horse race wire.

The warrant alleges that the executive, Samuel Barr, 59, and some other officials of the telegraph firm "did unlawfully and wickedly agree, combine, conspire and confederate" to violate Michigan betting laws. The warrant also cites four alleged gamblers.

Assistant Attorney General Eugene F. Townsend of Michigan says Barr knew Western Union equipment was being used to transmit horse racing information although he had never been in Michigan.

Barr surrendered yesterday in answer to the warrant. He was released in the custody of his attorney for a hearing December 7. John H. Waters, general counsel for Western Union, later described the arrest as an "outrage."

The Michigan warrant, signed by Grand Rapids Police Judge Edward G. Burleson, stems from a September 1 raid on a Grand Rapids horse room, Townsend told Felony Court Magistrate John F. X. Masterson. Townsend added raiders found a ticker of a "special type" used to transmit horse room information from the track.

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine has urged all Pennsylvania residents to purchase Christmas Seals to finance research in the fight against tuberculosis. "The sale of Christmas Seals and health bonds is the only means of securing funds for the work of voluntary tuberculosis and health organizations," Fine said in a statement.

The Governor named Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, Altoona publisher and historian, as chairman of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society's 45th annual Christmas Seal sale.

Harrisburg, Nov. 17 (AP)—New claims for unemployment compensation dropped off by six per cent during the week ended Nov. 9. The State Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation reported.

The bureau said yesterday that industries causing most of the unemployment were textiles, apparel, construction, leather, glass and mining.

At the town hall Lord Derby, Lancashire's lord lieutenant, formally welcomed the royal pair as crowds of onlookers milled in the square.

Then Elizabeth and the Duke drove past cheering crowds to the huge new Liverpool cathedral where bells pealed for the first time in honor of the event.

An hour and a half after they landed, the couple boarded their private railway car for the five-hour trip to London where they were to be met at the station by Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

They will then drive to Buckingham palace to join ailing King George and Queen Mother Mary for tea.

FACTS ABOUT WINTER MULCHING

More damage is perhaps caused by improper use of protective winter mulches than by omission of mulching altogether. Dangers, however, may be wholly avoided and the full benefits gained simply by following a few well established rules or principles.

Winter mulches are not applied "to keep plants warm." In fact, the opposite result is sought—winter mulching is practiced mainly to keep the ground frozen and thereby prevent damages caused by frequent freezing and thawing. This principle, of course, suggests with-in itself that the proper time to apply protective winter mulches is after the ground is frozen, not before to prevent its freezing.

Maximum benefits are gained not from a heavy blanket-like covering but a light, airy coat. Or in other words, a loose mulch, such as light straw or marsh hay, that does not pack down is the best material to use. Leaves, while plentiful in supply, soon become sodden and may actually injure the plants.

In the case of strawberries mulching is practiced to prevent the crown buds from freezing as well as to reduce the evils of heaving caused by alternate freezing and thawing. Most experienced growers in this latitude believe the strawberry mulch should be applied after the temperature has dropped to 20 degrees F. for a day or two to render the crown buds dormant but before it has descended as low as 15 degrees or lower to injure the delicate growths. Here again, a loose material is important, liberally applied above the rows.

It is advisable to freeze roses with soil slightly before riding weather arrives, with an airy mulch of hay or straw or evergreen boughs applied later after the ground is frozen.

The mention of evergreen boughs suggests another mulching fact worth emphasis. Winter shading of roses and many other semi-tender shrubs and vines prevents loss of moisture from wind and sun at the same time the mulch keeps the ground frozen to prevent heaving.

As previously advised here, rhododendrons, azaleas and other acid-loving shrubs, including blueberries, are mulched to maintain soil acidity as well as to conserve moisture and to gain other mulching benefits. Therefore, hardwood forest leaves are kept around the plants every month in the year. Normal rules of winter mulching, therefore, do not apply to these plants because they are already liberally mulched when winter arrives.

Experience must be consulted in regards to mulching fall-planted onions. If the soil is a type that heaves badly, a mulch will be needed. Last fall the editor planted a test bed of onion sets on a fertile but heavy clay loam. By the middle of January all the sets were lying loose on the surface of the ground where no mulch was used, but under the mulched rows the sets were normally anchored and growing. Straw manure, straw or shredded corn stalks may be used in this role.

Readers in doubt about mulching tasks are invited to write the editor for all the information desired.

NOTES ON SMOKING MEAT

Home-slaughtered pork must be thoroughly cured before it is smoked. It is always wise to remember that smoking is done primarily to impart to meat the delightful flavor we have long associated to smoked hams, shoulders and bacon. Curing is a race between the entrance of bacteria which cause spoilage and the penetration of salt to prevent such entrance. Of course, low temperatures slightly above freezing are the best means to bar these bacteria until salt has done its work.

Many farmers have learned to soak pork cuts in cold water after curing and before smoking. This adds to a milder flavor as well as a brighter coloring of the smoked meat. Hams and shoulders should be soaked two hours, bacon strips about 30 minutes. Cuts intended to be held over for use the following summer should be soaked, particularly the hams and shoulders.

After all cuts are strung for smoking they should be scrubbed in warm water with a stiff brush to remove excess salt and grease. The scrubbed meat is then hung in the smokehouse over night to drain or the smokehouse is pre-heated to a temperature at or slightly above 100 degrees F. so the meat dries rapidly before smoking is begun. Starting the smoke while the lower portions of cuts are wet causes streaking.

If the smokehouse does not allow 10 feet between fire and meat in order to avoid all danger of scorching, some type of metal shield, even an inverted tub, should be fixed above the fire to divert the direct heat from closest cuts of meat. Of course, all moisture should be allowed to escape before fire is started for smoking.

Old-time farm butchers believe green hickory wood is the best for smoking purposes. However, other hardwoods are satisfactory. Fresh hardwood sawdust is also excellent and may be particularly useful to smother fires when they are likely to become too hot. Under no circumstances should pine wood, or pine shavings or sawdust be used.

Fires built Indian fashion like a wagon wheel, with the pieces of wood radiating out from the center like spokes, will burn longest and create less heat than other methods of piling the wood. Over-heating is by far the most common danger in smoking meat.

Use of smoked salt is sometimes advisable on a small scale where smoking facilities are lacking. But in general liquid smoke, smoked salt, and similar preparations to provide a detour around regular methods of smoking are not advised. Federal regulations bar such meat from interstate shipment.

Smoked meat should be cooled after suitably colored and flavored. Wrapping is then necessary to exclude the light and air and to bar insects. If a pepper flavor is desired, pepper may be applied just before wrapping. Then the cuts are encased carefully in grease-resistant paper and wrapped in muslin bags. In all cases the paper covering should be heavy enough to prevent grease soaking through at the bottoms.

Do not hang meat by the strings used for smoking. The wrap should be intact with the hanging provided outside the wrapper, else insects will easily travel along the string into the meat.

A dry, dark, cool, well ventilated room is the best storage place.

CURING PORK IN BRINE

Curing pork for home use by the brine process requires several days longer than by the dry-cure method. However, if the weather is cool and meat spoilage is thereby less likely, the brine process is just as satisfactory and produces just as high quality meat as that cured by the speedier treatment.

There is an easy tendency to use too much salt when curing pork in brine, although on the other hand meat will spoil if not enough salt is employed. The proper rate is 8 pounds of salt, 2 pounds of brown sugar, and 2 to 3 ounces of saltpeter in 4½ gallons of water. Many experienced farmers prefer to cure the lighter bacon cuts in a solution where 5½ gallons instead of 4½ gallons of water is used. This makes a milder taste of bacon.

Curing time is an important factor. Generally the heavier cuts, such as hams and shoulders, are left in the brine 3½ to 4 days for each pound they weigh, with the shortest period set at 28 days. For example, a small shoulder weighing 5½ or 6 pounds is left in cure 28 days; a 15-pound ham, 60 days; bacon cuts 15 to 21 days.

At the end of seven days the cuts should be taken from the barrel or crock and the brine removed. Then the meat is repacked, with top cuts of the first pack placed in the bottom of the second and all pieces turned upside down from their first pack position. The brine is stirred well and replaced on the meat. Repacking is repeated about the 14th and 28th days. If at any of these stages the brine becomes ropy or stinky, it should be discarded, the meat scrubbed in hot water, the container scalded and then chilled, and the meat repacked in fresh brine.

Meat should be held at a temperature around 36 to 40 degrees F. before it is placed in the brine and the brine should be near this temperature level when meat is placed in it.

If any portions of the cuts protrude above the brine surface spoilage may result. Therefore, the meat should be weighed down to prevent its floating. The curing room should be held near the 36-to-40-degree level throughout the curing period.

Farmers used to allow pork to remain in the brine until it was used. This resulted in strong, over-salty meat which was almost inedible after several months. Rarely is such a practice justified because meat may be taken from the brine cure after the cure period advised, washed in cold water, dried and then encased in muslin or special meat wrappers and hung in a cool, dry room just like smoked meats.

Those who desire a supply of unsmoked side meat (fat-back) for its numerous kitchen roles may easily cure it either by the dry or brine method and store it safely as suggested. Of course, smoked sides or smoked hams and shoulders as well as unsmoked cuts may be likewise encased and stored by hanging in a cool room.

Remember that in curing home-slaughtered pork salt is used to prevent the entrance of spoilage organisms; sugar is added to lessen the strongness of preserving salt; saltpeter is used mainly to heighten the coloring of lean meat. But despite all prevalent ideas to the contrary, there is no such thing as "sugar-cure." As already explained, sugar is optional and is used chiefly to reduce saltiness.
